

Toronto's Vital Signs Initiatives in 2015-16

Toronto's Vital Signs Initiatives are strategic, collaborative partnerships with charitable organizations, the public and private sectors, and our Fundholders, that actively address the issues identified in the Toronto's Vital Signs Report. Many Toronto Foundation Fundholders direct a portion of their own granting to these initiatives in addition to the Foundation's support.

Since its launch in 2009, Beyond 3:30 has successfully expanded from 13 to 18 sites across Toronto and has reached more than 8,700 students.

*In 2015-16 Toronto Foundation, with support from generous Fundholders, granted $95,000 to Beyond 3:30. Toronto Foundation Fundholders contributed an additional $133,000 as part of their own granting. Total granted by Toronto Foundation and Fundholders since 2009: $1.7M

TORONTO 2015 Games Legacies

2015 was a big year in Toronto as we hosted the TO2015 Pan Am/Parapan Am Games. Toronto Foundation was pleased to partner with a number of initiatives and organizations to support the sustainable social and physical legacies the Games brought to Toronto.

Playing for Keeps

In partnership with the Playing for Keeps Collaborative

Playing for Keeps (P4K) builds social capital — trust and the sense of belonging — through volunteerism and play to create healthier, more active, and better connected communities. At the heart of it are Neighbourhood Games, playful and simple community events run by residents to bring their communities together.

P4K makes three kinds of community grants to bring the program to life:

- P4K Champion grants to partner organizations to support recruitment and stewardship of volunteer Community Leaders
- Try-A-Sport Neighbourhood Games grants to support events that introduce Torontonians to new sports
- Micro-grants to help Torontonians host P4K Neighbourhood Games in their own communities

In 2015-16 P4K made Community Grants of $73,150.

Total Community Grants since 2011: $318,000.
